Introduction

The Joint Commission International Accreditation Home Care Survey Process Guide is designed to help home care organizations learn about Joint Commission International (JCI) standards and the survey process. This overview will provide home care organizations with important information about JCI, the home care standards manual, eligibility for accreditation, how to request accreditation, survey preparation, the on-site survey, and the accreditation decision.

Home care organizations should not hesitate to contact the JCI Accreditation Office by telephone or e-mail using the contact directory at the beginning of this guide for any other information they may need.
